2022 Calhoun County Attainable Housing Fact Sheet

Why do we need Attainable Housing?

Research has long established that safe and affordable housing is an essential component to healthy communities, including physical and mental health, child development, food security, and social equity. Beyond safe and affordable, attainable housing promotes new and available homes and rental units, removing barriers, to put housing within reach of consumers, improving health outcomes for individuals and their communities.

Spending a high percentage of household income on a mortgage or rent can create financial hardship, especially for lower-income homeowners and renters. With a limited income, paying a high mortgage or rent may not leave enough money for other expenses, such as food, utilities, transportation, and medical care. Moreover, high housing cost reduces the proportion of income a household may allocate to savings each month.

Housing Challenges

Houses built prior to 1980 that have not undergone substantial updates may contain hazardous materials. Lead based paint, which was banned in the United States in 1977, is a known toxin that causes nervous system damage, stunted growth and delayed development and is especially toxic to children under the age of six. Homes built prior to 1980 are also likely to have asbestos insulation which can cause cancer.
